Mr Henry Chapman

Dear sir

The springs for the bed proved to be at the station in the freight office and the cushion also arrived last week but now I must appeal to you about the roof which leaks very badly in several places. During a heavy rain last night two bedrooms were made quite uninhabitable which makes it imperative that something should be done at once for in case of a long storm we would be most uncomfortable.

Kindly let me know who you would like to have do the work and I will be very glad to attend to it unless you prefer to give instructions yourself

Yours truly
